Michael Salvo assumes role as Hays County Republican Party chair

HAYS COUNTY, Texas — Michael Salvo officially assumed the role of Hays County Republican Party chair on Monday, outlining plans to strengthen local party operations ahead of the 2026 election cycle. Salvo steps into the position with a clear focus on strengthening local Republican leadership, supporting candidates, improving communication, and preparing Hays County Republicans for success in the 2026 election cycle and beyond.

“This is a new era for the Hays County GOP,” Salvo said. “Our mission is simple. We are here to win local elections, support Republican candidates, grow our voter base, and build a party operation worthy of the people who trust us to fight for conservative values.”

Under Salvo’s leadership, the party will place a renewed emphasis on grassroots engagement, candidate support, voter outreach, volunteer recruitment, precinct leadership, and building a stronger Republican presence across Hays County.

“While Democrats continue to push an agenda that is increasingly out of touch with Texas families, we will stay focused on the values, priorities and everyday concerns of Hays County voters,” Salvo said. “Our work will be rooted in truth, service and a serious commitment to conservative principles.”

The Hays County GOP will also place a renewed focus on recruiting and training precinct chairs, expanding voter registration efforts, engaging young voters and families, and building the volunteer infrastructure needed to compete across one of the fastest growing counties in Texas.

The work ahead requires courage, discipline, and unity. Hays County Republicans will move forward together, grounded in truth, committed to service, and ready to win.
